

Open Access: The Publishing Process and the Benefits for Researchers

Now more than ever, researchers are looking for advice and information about publishing open access (OA). We're here to help researchers with the support they need.

This webinar has been organised in partnership with Mendel University in Brno and is open to researchers in all institutions in the Czech Republic. We'll be going over:

- answers to researchers' open access queries
- common terminology and processes for researchers
- key trends in the OA space
- OA workflows
